

Contributors

PETER K. BENBOW

Peter K. Benbow studied medieval history at Brown University and history of science at the University of Oxford. While a student at Saint Edmund Hall, he was President of the University of Oxford C. S. Lewis Society. Presently, he is Headmaster of Eureka School of Santa Barbara where he teaches philosophy, history, and literature. He has published reviews and articles in the fields of the history of science, mathematics, and medieval intellectual history.

JON M. FENNELL

For many years Dean of Social Sciences at Hillsdale College, Jon M. Fennell has written on educational topics as well as on the thought of seminal thinkers ranging from Rousseau, Nietzsche, and Dewey to Leo Strauss, Allan Bloom, and Harry Jaffa. In recent years his research has centered on the thought of Michael Polanyi and, in 2014, contributed 'A Polanyian Perspective on C.S. Lewis's The Abolition of Man' to this journal.

NELSON GOERING

Nelson Goering grew up in the Ocooch Mountains in Wisconsin, and earned his BA at Grinnell College, Iowa. He completed his DPhil in comparative philology from Oxford in 2016 with a thesis on the linguistic aspects of Germanic alliterative metre. His wider research interests centre on the linguistics of the older Germanic and Indo-European languages. He is a lifelong reader of Tolkien, and is particularly interested in the intersection of Tolkien's philological academic life with his creative works.

DON W. KING

On the faculty of Montreat College since 1974, Don W. King is Professor of English and a Faculty Fellow. He has published over seventy essays and reviews as well as nine books, including C. S. Lewis, Poet: The Legacy of His Poetic Impulse (Kent State University Press, 2001), Plain to the Inward Eye: Selected Essays on C. S. Lewis (Abilene Christian University Press, 2013), and The Collected Poems of C. S. Lewis: A Critical Edition (Kent State University Press, 2015). His working manuscripts include The Collected Poems of Ruth Pitter and Soldier, Writer, Inklings: A Life of Warren Hamilton Lewis.

DUANE LITZ JR

Duane Litz Jr (M.Div., Talbot School of Theology) serves on staff as pastor to students at Granada Heights Friends Church in La Mirada, California. He has been working with middle school, high school, and college students for the past fifteen years. His work as a Christian educator within the local church includes studying and researching, and then, in turn, teaching and developing students to become spiritually-minded young adults. He earned his B.A. in Christian Education from Biola University and his M.Div. from Talbot School of Theology. He has been a student of C.S. Lewis's work for nearly a decade through university classes, conferences, and personal studies. Lewis's writings have been an invaluable aid to his ministry.

BASIL J. McLAREN

Basil J. McLaren is currently graduating with an M.A. in Theological Studies from Regent College in Vancouver, Canada.

BRIAN M. WILLIAMS

Brian M. Williams serves as the pastor of Ephesus Baptist Church in Spring Hope, NC. He received his M.Div. from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary where he is also currently pursuing his Ph.D. in Philosophy of Religion. He is exploring C. S. Lewis' understanding of the relationship between reason and imagination in the pursuit of truth for his dissertation research. He also teaches undergraduate courses in The History of Ideas program at the College at Southeastern in Wake Forest, NC.

